

I recently found out that KLOVE might be replaced by an LPFM. This cannot happen. With KLOVE I feel connected with the rest of the Christian community around the world. We're all listening to the same music at the same time. It brings a lot of hope and strength to the local community. There will be no other choice for Christians in many communities if KLOVE were to go away and sometimes it's the only thing getting you through the day. The services of prayer and counseling that KLOVE offers to hurting people are invaluable. The number of suicides they've been able to deter. They've done amazing things to help communities stop hurting and find hope, don't take that away.
